(Commerce, GA – June 25) The largest fireworks show in North Georgia, four Jet Cars, a wheelstander and lots of really fast cars made the 2011 edition of Atlanta Dragway's Night of Fire a hit with the fans. Thousands of spectators enjoyed the show, which included six different classes of Summit ET racing and a manufacturer's midway capped off with a play area for the younger fans.

The four jet cars included the Cannonball Express driven by K.C. Jones, Chattanooga Choo Choo (Paul Kelley), Police Interceptor (Mike "Hojo" Hojnacki) and the Miller Welding car (Elaine Larsen). All thrilled the audience with smoke and flame shows and then proved they were the fastest machines on the grounds with passes ranging from 235 to 275mph in two sessions. Longtime wheelstander Richard Hutchins put on a great show with his Chevy Rebellion, tripping the finish line timers with his rear wheels at over 130mph. Keith Szabo and Ronnie Davis showed off their revised hot rods, along with some blistering passes by the Vancica family in their Advanced ET supercharged alcohol burning dragsters.
