

Pocono: August 7th

Maybe you've heard... "It's TIME for the Pocono Mountains!" According to the New York Daily News, "a wind of change and an influx of monied investors has seen a crop of new developments that is putting the Poconos back on the map." One visit will explain why. Come take a first-hand look at the region's natural beauty, its bustling local scene, seasonally focused dining and welcoming accommodations. It's no wonder then that -- now, more than ever - "It's TIME for the Pocono Mountains."

The Pocono region is enjoying a renaissance with an influx of investment in new resorts, luxurious spas and attractions. In an era when time has become one of the most precious commodities, the Pocono Mountains region has become an invaluable resource for world-weary vacationers who find comfort in knowing that there is a place that's both nearby and near-perfect for any kind of escape experience.

After coming off a great race weekend in Northeastern Pennsylvania, Pocono Raceway is already pushing fans to support a great military charity in preparation for the second NASCAR race weekend at the Tricky Triangle. Pocono Raceway, in partnership with Goddess Greetings and the Armed Forces Foundation, presents a collection of greeting cards like no other to encourage fans to join them in supporting our troops.

Between now and July 31, 2011, fans who purchase from the special Pocono military collection will not only be supporting Pocono's efforts in bringing troops to the track during its Pennsylvania 500 race weekend on August 5-7, 2011, but also in donating proceeds from each purchase to The Armed Forces Foundation.
