

Roczen Wins Second-Career Monster Energy Supercross Race at Georgia Dome

Red Bull KTM's Ken Roczen won his second Monster Energy AMA Supercross, an FIM World Championship, of the season before 69,785 fans at the Georgia Dome. Monster Energy/Pro Circuit/Kawasaki's Martin Davalos captured the first Eastern Regional 250SX Class win of his career.

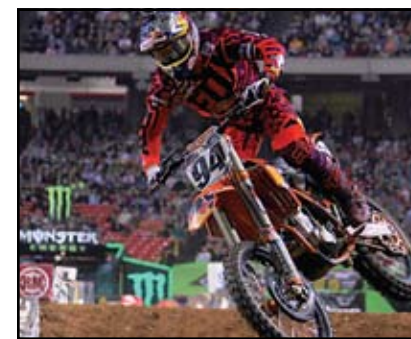

Smartop/Motoconcepts Racing's Mike Alessi earned the Nuclear Cowboyz® Holeshot Award with Monster Energy Kawasaki's Ryan Villopoto and Yoshimura Suzuki's James Stewart following in second and third respectively. Stewart quickly moved into first place on the opening lap as Red Bull KTM's Ken Roczen took over third. Stewart, who came into tonight's race on a two-race win streak, crashed in a turn moments after taking over the lead position and remounted in last place.

Villopoto moved into second place on Lap 4 and passed Alessi for the lead on Lap 5. Alessi was also passed by Roczen and Red Bull KTM teammate Ryan Dungey for the second and third spots respectively. On Lap 14, Villopoto failed to jump the triple and, as a result, Roczen moved into the lead. Villopoto finished second and Dungey finished third.

"I don't believe this," said Roczen. "Getting on the podium is one thing but a win is another ... such an awesome feeling. This proves that hard work pays off and helps build my confidence."

For the first-time ever, the entire Monster Energy Supercross season will air live on FOX Sports. FOX Sports 1 will air 13 races live and FOX Sports 2 will air four races live, in addition to every race re-airing on FOX Sports 2. The live Monster Energy Supercross programming on FOX Sports 1 and FOX Sports 2 also includes live coverage on the authenticated FOX Sports Go app. (Photos by MSA Staff.)
