

History....

46th Annual Moonshine festival took place in Dawsonville, GA Saturday, Oct. 25 through Sunday, Oct. 27. Estimates said 80,000 visitors were expected to descend on the mountain town for the weekend. It looks like that number may have been too conservative as attendance exceeded expectations. There nearly 700 food and product vendors on hand for the weekend in addition to the musical entertainment, a car show and other activities. The event is managed by a non-profit Dawson County organization called Kare for Kids – KARE's main focus is providing the opportunity for every child in Dawson County to have a Christmas they deserve. If you missed it this year's Moonshine Festival, dang.... there's always next year! Don't worry, we love the festival so much, we'll be sure to remind you when it rolls around again in 2014.
