

DETROIT GRAND PRIX RACE REPORT

NTT INDYCAR SERIES

Round 7

DETROIT BELLE ISLE

Andretti Autosport took on the mean streets of Detroit for the final time Sun, 05 Jun 2022 at Belle Isle Raceway. Alexander Rossi made his mark with a second-place finish and the top finishing Honda after starting the race 11th. He made the most on-track passes and turned the third fastest lap of the race. His three-stop strategy in addition to turning qualifying quality laps gave Rossi his first podium finish of the 2022 NTT INDYCAR SERIES season.

Colton Herta, Romain Grosjean and Devlin DeFrancesco all had a two-stop strategy though each played out differently. For Herta, he earned an eighth-place finish as he hit fuel mark after fuel mark while awaiting a yellow that never came. Grosjean took the same gamble with fuel and would end his race in 17th after a final, third pit stop with three laps remaining. DeFrancesco did all that was asked of him and brought home an 18th-place finish. He ran a similar strategy to teammate Grosjean.

ALEXANDER ROSSI

NO. 27 NAPA AUTO PARTS / AUTONATION HONDA

Top finishing Honda

Made most on-track passes of any driver

Turned third-fastest lap of the race with a lap time of 1:16.5218

“Huge thanks to all the boys. The No. 27 NAPA AUTO PARTS/ AutoNation Honda was amazing. Yet again we come here with an amazing car and can’t quite get the win. It was a good recovery from yesterday. The strategy was good. I think we’re finally executing on our potential.”

REGISTER TO WIN TICKETS, TEE SHIRTS AND MORE FROM MOTORSPORT AMERICA!!

GO TO

MSAMAGAZINE.COM

AND SIGN UP TODAY!