

NASCAR Veteran Mike Helton Joins AMA Pro Racing's Management Board

AMA Pro Racing announced today that it welcomes longtime NASCAR veteran Mike Helton to its Board of Managers. Helton – who continues in his current role at NASCAR as Vice Chairman – joins David Atlas, Tom Bledsoe, George Silberman and Mark Raffauf on the Board, which leverages 150-plus years of motorsports experience as it helps guide and assist the AMA Pro Racing organization.

Helton brings wide-ranging and multi-faceted experience to the Board, much of which comes from his decades of experience at NASCAR and within the motorsports community. Since 2015 he's served as Vice Chairman of NASCAR, held the position of NASCAR President beginning in 2000, and been intimately involved with the sanctioning body since 1994.

"Mike Helton brings a lifetime of Motorsports experience to American Flat Track during a period of rapid growth for the sport," said Michael Lock, CEO of American Flat Track. "We welcome Mike to the Board and are looking forward to the benefit of his insights and guidance."

Helton's duties today involve overseeing competition, helping guide NASCAR leadership in its strategic planning, and expanding the sport's reach, both nationally and internationally. Helton is a current member of NASCAR's Board of Directors, as well as a member of the company's Executive Council.

Helton is also Chairman of The NASCAR Foundation, a charity that raises money and encourages volunteerism as it supports nonprofit causes around the country. Additionally, his career includes operational stints at two major racing venues, Atlanta Motor Speedway and Talladega Superspeedway – and he's also spent some time in a race car himself.

"I'm excited about becoming a part of AMA Pro Racing's Board of Managers," Helton said. "I've been a motorcycle enthusiast for most of my life and really am impressed with the direction American Flat Track is going. I look forward to being a part of their increasing role in motorsports."

Born and raised in Bristol, Va., Helton resides in Ormond Beach, Fla. with his wife Lynda.

American Flat Track Announces Final 2019 Schedule

American Flat Track has finalized its 2019 schedule and prepares to launch ticket sales in time for the holidays.

The 2019 running of the New York Short Track at Weedsport Speedway in Weedsport, NY has been moved back one week to July 13, 2019. Race fans can plan on an entire weekend of excitement, as AFT Events will once again throw a pre-race kickoff party with food, live music, entertainment and rider meet & greet session.

AFT's season finale returns to the Meadowlands Racing & Entertainment at the famed MetLife Sports Complex in East Rutherford, NJ for a second running of the Meadowlands Mile. The race is set for September 28, 2019 - one week earlier than its 2018 date. This venue provided showstopping race action in 2018 and has already become one of the most highly-anticipated events of the upcoming season.

American Flat Track will kick off its 2019 season with its bar-banging DAYTONA TT in appropriate fashion - during the wild Bike Week festivities in Daytona Beach. The 2019 DAYTONA TT happens Thursday, March 14 once again under the lights of the iconic Daytona International Speedway. Tickets will be available soon at <https://www.americanflattrack.com>.
