Before the race started eight drivers were penalized and sent to the rear for inspection violations. All 4 Joe Gibbs Racing cars, 2 Roush cars, as well as drivers Reed Sorenson and Cody Ware.

At one point Brad Keselowski came in to pit and skidded backwards but managed to stay in the pit box. Believe it or not, there is not a rule against this. So the car just gets serviced backwards.

There were 37 lead changes among 15 drivers. In the last lap Kyle Larson had a horrific accident. His car skidded, went airborne, and then did several barrel rolls and finally landed tires down. He was fine.

Chase Elliott won the race giving Chevrolet their first win of the season. Chevy took the three top spots with Alex Bowman second and Ryan Preece third.

Talladega never disappoints. With clear skies and warm weather it was a near sold out crowd.
